

Empower. Invest. Accelerate. Women leaders: the new power behind the global economy

You are invited to the 2nd annual Deloitte Touche
Tohmatsu Webcast celebrating International Women's Day
Monday, March 1, 2010 – 8:00 a.m. - 9:00 a.m. EST (GMT-5)

As the world gears up for the global economic recovery, governments, academia, and organizations focus their attention on women as consumers, business leaders, and the driving force for social change. Wherever your organization is today, this webcast promotes movement to greater engagement of women buyers, women leaders, and the impact women have in societal and economic change.

In recognition of International Women's Day, Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu's Council for the Global Retention of Women (GROW) is hosting a Webcast featuring women leaders from around the world.

This 60-minute market-driven panel discussion will:

- Offer insights into how organizations and governments are capitalizing on women as the largest market opportunity in regions around the world
- Explore perspectives, practices, and the business case for the retention and advancement of women to leadership
- Spotlight how women's leadership is shaping organizations and impacting societies

Panelists:

- Futhi Mtoba, Chairman Deloitte Southern Africa, Member of the Board of the United Nations Global Compact
- Clara Gaymard, International Government Relations Initiative Leader, GE International, President and CEO, GE France
- Gabriela Hernandez Cardoso, Undersecretary of Communications and Transportation, Mexico

Moderator:

- Sylvia Ann Hewlett, President of the Center for Work-Life Policy, Director of Gender and Policy Program at the School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University
